IN MEMORIAM

Like gulls
that fly
beyond the horizon
no longer to be seen
but seen
Or sails
disappearing
to reappear
at sometime yet unknown
There is a thread
a realization
knowing that you are not gone
but
like the gulls
you remain
an image
a permanent part sharing
in the entirety
of being.

STUDENT LIFE

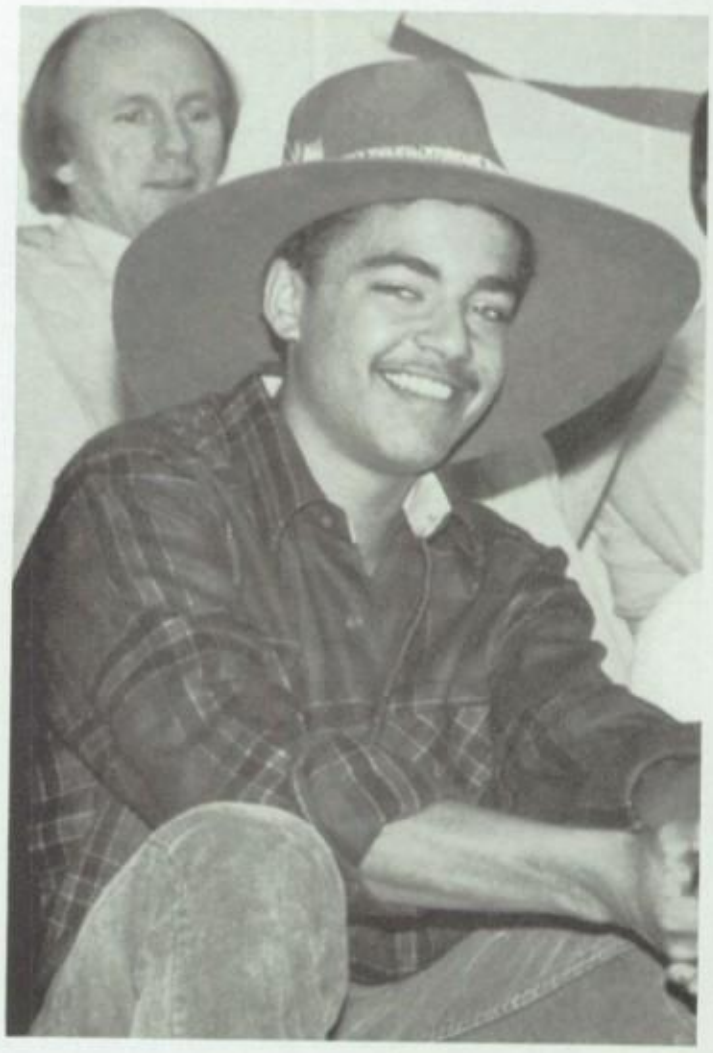
Sussex Central is where it happens. Look around, count the smiles and ask yourself, "have I participated? have I listened? will I pass this way again?" Mark Skidmore (above) carries the ball and much more.

Top: Did Ross Mitchell really stay after school? Susan Brittingham: "getting a little help from my friends."



Kevin Marvel bubbles over. Students listen intently during a class discussion. Room 202 is where it happens.

The spirit is here – catch it!

HOMECOMING 1980

"Seniors Yell It" Just another ordinary day for Nancy Jones. Seniors win again.

GOLDEN KNIGHTS

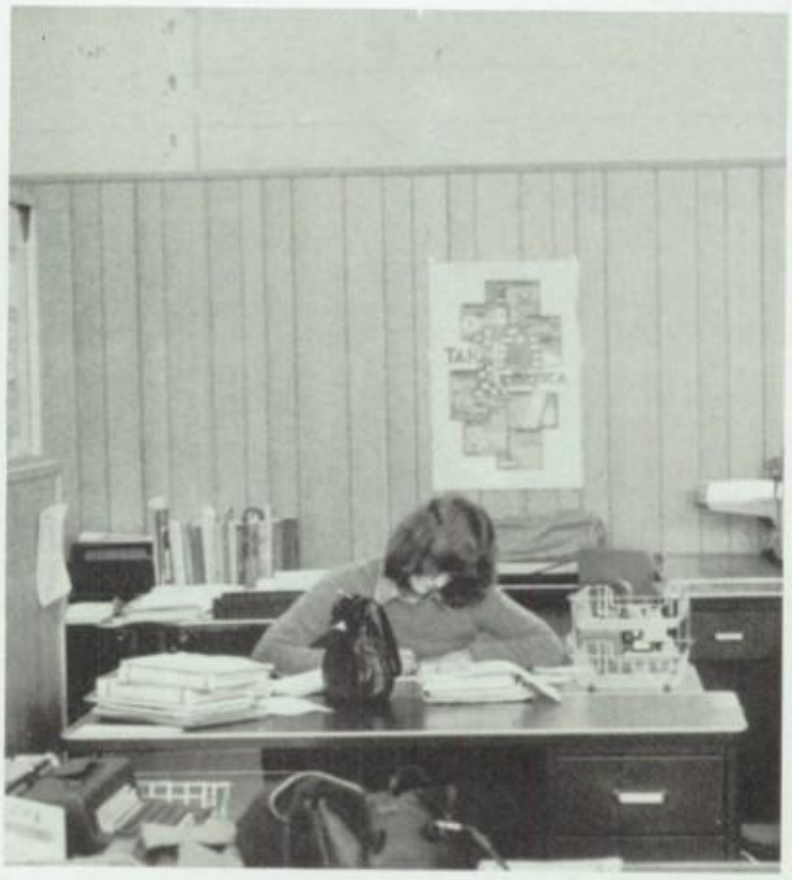
Queen Karla and Princess Amy accept congratulations and the reign. Medford Livingston III leads a cheer. Coach Howard and team did zoo the Wildcats, adding to the excitement of the Sophomores winning the float competition.

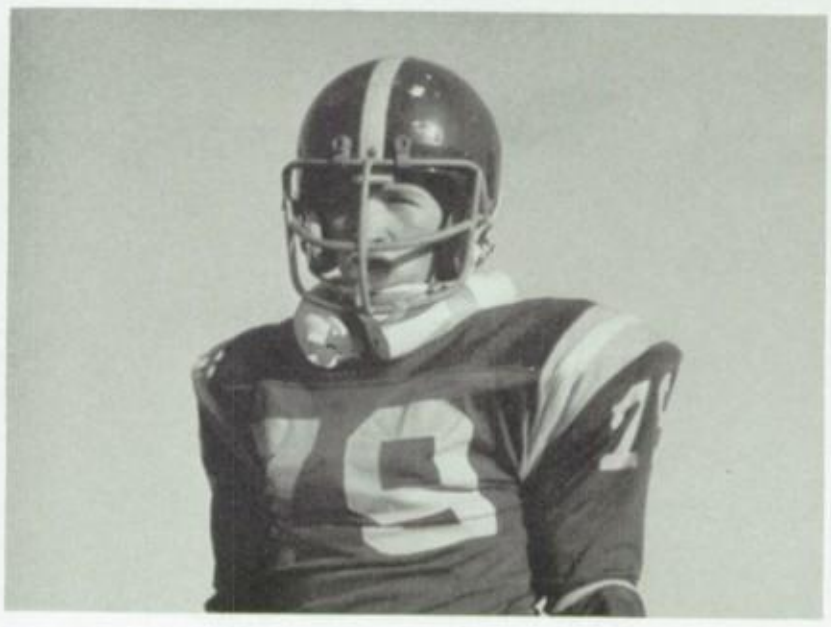
Willie Reynolds raps in the late afternoon sunshine.
Getting involved is part of the game. Gus Croll finds himself in another entanglement.

Students deep in scientific discovery. Has anyone seen Mr. Bibb?

Susan Pittard adds encouragement, a prayer, a cheer.
Mr. McCarron with his extraordinary enthusiasm inspires his dedicated onlookers.



An unusual picture of Cliff Brittingham. It took a great deal of time and a hidden camera.



Number 79! Is this Sussex Central's future hope?

The pictures speak for themselves; they are worth "more" than a thousand words. What or who can write a memory?

Sussex Central will always be No. 1.

You've heard of the Globe Trotters; meet one of the Knight Trotters. Linda Banks works on the Yearbook. Jill Showell spends "more" time in the hall. Sherry Smith, "I'll drink to that."

Good Times are a tradition at Sussex Central. There is a time for work and a time for play. Together we experience both and share in the warm.

Walking and talking together. David Snively poses while hard at study.
